

Hi

I left Australia in        to live in        soon after finding a friend of mine's son who had hung himself. I cut him down & did the CPR as directed by Vic ambulance over the phone, until the ambulance arrived. The boy who was 19 died.

I have known this boy almost since birth & saw him mentally decline from the time he was put on Ritalin through to stronger & stronger antidepressants. The day he died he visited his GP who increased his antidepressants.

After watching the Video by Peter Gotzsche on fraudulent drug trials & also spending time in Tacloban recently (the city that was destroyed 8 Nov 2013 by Typhoon Haiyan, (Typhoon Yolanda) in the Philippines where about 6500 died) & seeing how well the survivors have recovered without antidepressants & drug treatments.

My opinion this 19 year old boy's death was caused completely by antidepressants.

Regards